General Conference is Here

It is finally here! Both in time and place. The 2020 General Conference, which had been postponed several times due to the Covid-19 pandemic will finally take place April 23 – May 3 of this year. And, this worldwide gathering will take place right here in North Carolina at the Charlotte Convention Center!

It has been a long time coming and a lot has happened since the last full General Conference in 2016. Back in 2016 it was decided that the United Methodist Church should have a special called General Conference to deal specifically with issues related to human sexuality. That took place in 2019 in St. Louis. At that gathering it was decided to maintain the traditional language around homosexuality in the United Methodist Church's Book of Discipline and to create a pathway for churches to leave the denomination, if they wanted to do so. We were planning to meet again for the regularly scheduled quadrennial General Conference in Minneapolis in 2020; but, as you know, the pandemic hit and kept groups from being able to meet together. So, it was postponed to 2021. And then to 2022. And finally, it was moved altogether to Charlotte in 2024.

Since the General Conference last met in 2019 many churches have disaffiliated from the United Methodist Church. In the United States about 25% of the churches left to either start a new denomination or to become completely independent. Those who remain see a bright future ahead for the United Methodist Church; but there are still many questions and issues that need to be resolved.

This year's General Conference will deal with more than 1,000 pieces of legislation. You can search through the different petitions by going to this link, www.resourceumc.org/en/churchwide/general-conference-2020. You'll find proposals on everything from changing the ministerial pension plan to potentially giving Deacons the ability to administer the sacraments. But, the two areas that are sure to get the most publicity will be around 1). Regionalization, and 2). Whether to change the wording in the Discipline around homosexuality. Let's look at those two issues for a minute:

1). Regionalization

Currently, the United Methodist Church allows annual conferences and churches outside of the United States to adapt certain sections of the Book of Discipline to fit the context where they do ministry. But, this is not the case in the U.S. It will be discussed as to whether or not U.S. conferences and churches should have the ability to change certain sections to fit our own specific needs. Currently, there are lots of proposals that come before General Conference that are very US-centric.

Think about salary issues and pensions and parsonages and the like. Regionalization would allow us to handle things that make more sense for American churches without wasting the time of the delegates from other areas of the world. The potential downside is that we will not all share the exact same standards around the world. We will still share the same theology and the same mission; but the practice of ministry might become more contextual.

1). Human Sexuality

The United Methodist Church will once again debate issues of human sexuality. I suspect it will be a close and hotly contested debate among the delegates once again, as it has for the last fifty years. The 2019 Conference voted very narrowly to maintain the traditional language in the Discipline. But, what about the 2024 delegates? Here, in America, people believe there are more delegates this time around who have a progressive view around the issues of human sexuality that are being discussed. Will there be enough votes to change the Book of Discipline? No one knows for sure at this point. I, for one, would not want to make a promise that it will go one way or the other.

On a personal level, I've always paid attention to what happens at General Conference because the changes that happen there can impact how we do ministry in our local churches. But, this year I'm taking even more interest than ever because I have recently been called up to serve. Due to a health issue suffered by one of the other delegates from North Carolina I have been asked to go as an "Alternate Delegate" to General Conference. This means that if any of our other delegates from North Carolina get sick, tired, called away for work, or for personal reasons simply need a break I will go to their committee or to the voting floor to serve in their place. I might serve for an hour. I might serve for a day. I might not serve at all. But, I will be attending this year's General Conference ready to jump in wherever I am needed.

So, say a prayer for me and for all the delegates from all over the world who will be gathering in Charlotte later this month to discuss really important matters that affect the United Methodist Church.

May the Peace of Christ be with you,
Pastor Doug

Swifties of Wrightsville United Methodist:

Are you ready for it?

Join Pastor Julia for a night of exploring the surprising connections (dare we say invisible strings) between our faith and the music of Taylor Swift! We will share dinner, have a Bible study, and — of course — sing and dance to Taylor's songs. So if you have a blank space in your calendar on April 12th at 5pm, write this down.

All ages are welcome and RSVPs are encouraged (as are Taylor-inspired outfits!).
